

More Brilliant as the Years Go By

Pertinent Paragraphs

The senate has passed a bill which is reported to meet with little approval on the part of the president. It is known as the "cruiser bill" and involves an appropriation of $21,000,000 which includes $15,000,000 for one airplane carrier. Fifteen cruisers are provided for. We are not particularly well versed in the subject of national armament but it seems to us that the expenditure of $17,000,000 for a ship which can be destroyed in five minutes by a bombing plane is not only poor economy but poor defense as well. In our opinion these same dollars, spent on several more airplane carriers and a flock of airplanes, would go further toward solving the problem of adequate defense than may be expected of them in their present mission.

An additional appropriation and further legislation providing for an air service which would rank as the world's greatest, and which would hold forth some kind of a future as an inducement to really high class men would, in our estimation, be the next step toward adequate national protection. The next war, and there is bound to be a next one, will without a shadow of doubt, be fought in the air. Why not, then, inaugurate an air service independent of either the army or navy? In fact, why should not the head of our proposed air service also be, in time of war, directing head of all branches of the military? The eyes and the brain should go together. The logical solution of a lot of things—including miles of red tape and thousands of petty jealousies. There is no doubt in our mind that this situation will eventually be arrived at—why not now?

San Jose this week adopted a system calculated to lessen the number of traffic violations by out-of-town motorists. Instead of receiving a "ticket" for minor traffic offenses, visiting motorists will be presented with a neat little card bearing on one side a greeting from the city, signed by the city manager and

HELLO GIRLS TO GIVE TIME ON REQUEST

"What is the time?" The old cry of the man who forgot to wind his clock last night, or has none to wind, will find an answer if he has a telephone.

The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company will now give the time of day to all who ask, D. A. Manning, manager, has announced.

In order to learn the time of day it is only necessary to ask the operator.

"This time giving is in accordance with our policy of continuously improving and broadening our service," said Mr. Manning. "It has been our desire to render this service, but the rapid growth of other demands on telephone facilities has made it impractical. We are now equipped to go ahead with it and it is with pleasure that we make this announcement to all our customers in Campbell."

the chief of police, and on the other side there are listed San Jose's traffic ordinances. The second such ticket, however, is a summons to appear in traffic court. The new plan will do away with two things—first, a lot of embarrassment and second, the excuse, "I didn't know."

The Campbell Chamber of Commerce will meet Monday, Feb. 11, for the purpose of electing officers and the transaction of other business of equal importance. The question is, are we going to have a well-attended meeting, merely a quorum—or a complete flop? It would be a fine thing if every member of the local chamber could be present. There are, of course, some few who cannot possibly be there, but for the most part members would be obliged to think fast to have ready a reason that would really excuse them from the meeting. To those who plan to attend chamber of commerce meetings but once a year: Monday night is the night!

Woodwardia, Santa Cruz mountain resort, the scene several years ago of a fire, burned to the ground again this week. Wags lay the conflagration at the door of flaming youth.

That's all.

EMINENT SPEAKER SECURED FOR OLD SETTLERS' DAY

The committee in charge of securing a speaker for the Old Settlers' Day program has been busy for some time and this week announced that Dr. Mariana Bertola of San Francisco, has consented to speak. Her subject will be "The Spirit of the Pioneers."

Three hundred years spells the real history of medicine, while recorded history dates back to 6000 B. C. The first recorded dissection of the human body was in the fourteenth century by an Italian. Dr. Shepard advocates compulsory autopsies and publications of findings as a benefit to the race.

The science of physics and chemistry have been of invaluable aid in the advancement of medicine by the production of the microscope and the knowledge of drugs and their uses, according to Dr. Shepard. Other interesting things he discussed were the use of anesthetics, the discovery of microorganisms and the consequent development of antiseptic surgery and the growth in the production of preventative serums. The latest of these is the serum for scarlet fever which the Drs. Dick have practically perfected and which is expected to be in general use soon. Other diseases which are practically under control are small pox and diphtheria and could be entirely eliminated if vaccinations were compulsory the world over, said Dr. Shepard.

Campbell is indeed fortunate to have as speaker Dr. Bertola, who is nationally known for her civic work for the betterment of women and children.

She is past president of the Pacific Gas and Electric company. He has just negotiated a contract for laying the first section of a giant pipe line which will bring the gas from the San Joaquin oil fields to San Francisco, San Jose, Oakland and adjacent territory. Over 13 million dollars will be invested in the enterprise.

The main pipe line will be 250 miles long. Pipe for the first 60 miles has already been manufactured by the A. O. Smith corporation in Milwaukee and is now enroute to California in train loads running at express speed. A wire from the Smith corporation yesterday read: "One hundred and thirty-two cars of pipe, making two solid train loads of 66 cars each, left Monday morning with double header engines, carrying the banner 'California, Here We Come.'"

The first train load will arrive in Oakland Sunday and be at once routed to Tres Pinos in San Benito county where workmen and ditching machines will be waiting for it. A trainload will follow every day thereafter until the full shipment has been completed.

Work on the first section of the pipe line will begin at Tres Pinos Monday morning, the ditching crews working east through the Panoche pass into Fresno county at the rate of two miles a day.

At Milpitas a metering station will be established from which two branches will take off, one to San Francisco and the other to Oakland, Alameda, and the other to the San Joaquin valley.

Plans for the pipe line call for a 16-inch main from the Buttonwillow gas field near Taft, Kern county, to Kettleman Hills, California's latest

True Californian Style of Architecture

The Campbell Union Grammar school, which is to be the scene of the Old Settlers' Day program, is an almost perfect example of the true Californian style architecture, according to specifications of the Palos Verdes Art Jury now in session.

California will hereafter claim as its own that distinctive style of architecture, with tile roof and light colored plaster walls, and in the romantic treatment reminiscent of Spain, Italy and the Mediterranean, which is now so general throughout the state. Chambers of commerce in Santa Barbara, Palos Verdes, Palm Springs, Stockton, Redlands, Redondo Beach, Glendora, Hollywood, and in Lassen county and Madera county, have already adopted resolutions calling upon the members of their staffs, civic bodies and the newspapers to adopt the term "California Style" and to discourage the use of the terms "Mission Style," "Spanish Style" and "Mediterranean Style." They say these are unfortunate misnomers for an art which has progressed to a degree in which all Californians may justly take pride, one that is peculiarly appropriate to this state, where it has now been developing for so many years as to be known as typical. A number of school boards, library boards and city planning commissions have also adopted it. The directors of the Southern California Chapter of the American Institute of Architects approve it, as do many prominent architects of the state.

Californian architecture is defined as that distinctive style which for several decades has been successfully developing in this state, deriving its chief inspiration directly or indirectly from Latin types which developed under similar climatic conditions along the Mediterranean or at points in California, such as Monterey.

Color is generally in tone.

Materials used are adobe or stucco exterior wall surfaces, of a durable construction, or of concrete, brick, stone or artificial stone.

Roofs are low pitched, seldom steeper than 30 degrees, with 3 5degrees maximum, usually of tile laid random, but sometimes, in the galleried Monterey type, using shakes or shingles, often with thick butts.

There are many evidences not only in California but throughout the country that this style of architecture, exemplified in the structure pictured above, is considered typical of the state. During the past decade or more, articles have appeared in many journals of nation-wide importance so alluding to it.

P G & E TO PIPE NATURAL GAS TO THE BAY REGION

Natural gas will be in the San Francisco bay area by Aug. 1.

This was the announcement made yesterday by A. J. Hockenbeamer, president of the Pacific Gas and Electric company. He has just negotiated a contract for laying the first section of a giant pipe line which will bring the gas from the San Joaquin oil fields to San Francisco, San Jose, Oakland and adjacent territory. Over 13 million dollars will be invested in the enterprise.

The main pipe line will be 250 miles long. Pipe for the first 60 miles has already been manufactured by the A. O. PATRIOTIC LUNCHEON TO FEATURE AT CLUB TUESDAY

A patriotic luncheon is slated for the Tuesday luncheon of Campbell Kiwanians Feb. 13, and it is to be in the nature of a surprise to the members of that organization. In fact, it seems to be a surprise to the prime factor and greatest common divisor, D. H. Cramer and Ira Abbott.

Matters of moment were discussed at the closed meeting this week and considerable interest was manifest in community progress.

and perhaps largest gas field. From Kettleman the line will be 22 inches in diameter to Mendota in Fresno county. There, it will reduce to 20 inches and will turn west through Panoche pass to Tres Pinos and then run by way of Hollister, Gilroy and San Jose to Milpitas.

The entire line will be welded throughout and will form practically a continuous tube without joints from the oil fields to the bay area, making leakage almost impossible. The pipe for the branch from Milpitas to Oakland will be manufactured at the plant of the Western Pipe and Steel company in South San Francisco.

John D. Kuster, local manager of the company, who has been in conference at San Francisco in connection with the bringing of natural gas to the bay area states: "This outstanding development in northern California will result in a stimulation of business and make this area more attractive for the establishment of industries. With the coming of this natural gas this area now has all of the advantages to be offered by any other section of the state in connection with further development."

REB'KAHS ENTERTAIN CARRIE HUTCHINS

Tuesday was a red letter day for 1929 in local Rebekah history when Mrs. Carrie Hutchins, grand president of Rebekah assembly of California made her official visit. Other visitors of note were grand marshal, Mrs. Cockrell, also of San Francisco; Past Grand Master Charles Snyder and District Deputy President Bessie Bellinger. Many other visitors from neighboring towns were also present.

The committee in charge, Mesdames Helen Johnson, Emma Main, Martha Phillips, Carrie Silver and Ada Coupland had expended a great amount of effort and time in decorating the hall and banquet room. In the former the lodge colors of pink and green were attractively used and in the dining hall the valentine motif was effectively carried out.

BACK IN THE GAY NINETIES

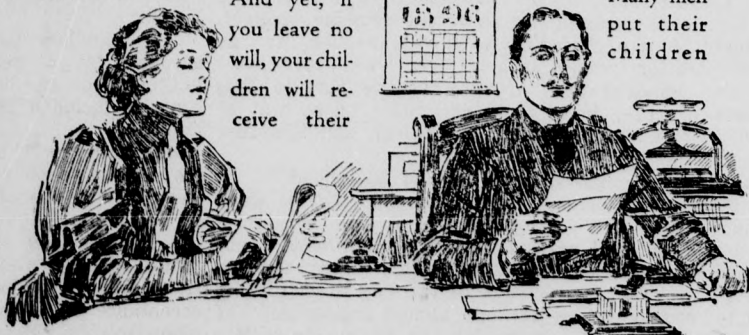

REMEMBER when you were 21? . . . Would you say that you were the world's best manager of money? Would you say that you were even fair?

Probably not. You were too young to have had much financial experience.

And yet, if you leave no will, your children will receive their by leaving your money in trust. The principal will be carefully invested by us as trustee, and the income paid to your boys and girls until they reach, say, age 30 or 35. Then the principal can be turned over to them in any way you wish.

Many men put their children share of your estate the day they become of age.

Even if you leave a will, without special provisions, they will still receive their share when they become what the law calls "of age."

It is quite simple to avoid this situation and protect your children

"on probation," and leave it to the trustee to decide when they have earned the right to take over for themselves the management of the principal.

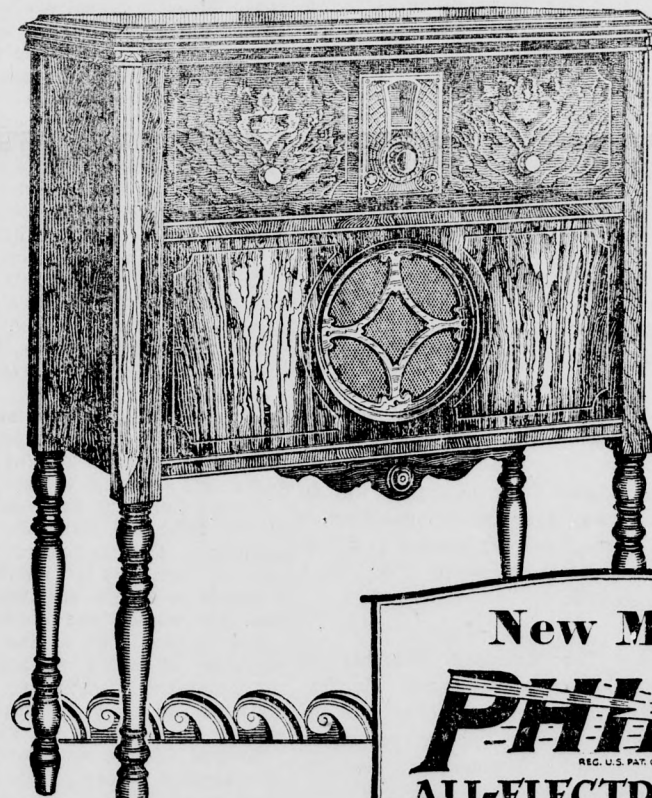

This may be a thought that you would like to follow up. Ask us about it the next time you come in.

ALUMNI CAMBERS SPLIT HONORS WITH ELLERY

Saturday night the Campbell alumni basketball teams split honors with the Ellery Arms teams from San Francisco, the 145's losing a hard fought 26-20 tangle while the unlimiteds outclassed the Arms heavyweights 22-21.

In the 141 pound scramble, Blaine was high point man with eight tallies. Captain Hummel played his usual good game running guard besides contributing five points to the total. The locals led the first half 9-5 but lost their stride in the final half. Nannery starred for the losers.

In the unlimited class Kalas was the shining light, making 22 points. Trys from all angles were rewarded by the satisfying "swish" of the ball slipping through the net. Monte and C. Nelson also strutted their stuff to perfection, Nelson caging 13 points and Monte playing the best game of his career, according to fans in whose hearts he is fast finding a permanent place. He is filling well the place of Reed at running guard. The latter, who is recovering from a sprained knee, will have to step high and wide to retain his position when he gets back on the court according to fans who witnessed Saturday nights' games.

STATE-WIDE ART SHOW BEING HELD AT SANTA CRUZ

Special to The Press
Much interest is being shown in the second state-wide art exhibit now being held in the Casa del Rey "Bay View" room and sunparlors, Santa Cruz.

One hundred and eighty pictures, including oils, water colors and pastels by some of the best artists of the state are being shown.

Prizes amounting to $1,000 have been awarded. This year artists from the southern part of the state have taken most of the prize money as well as receiving most of the "special mentions."

Last year much dissatisfaction was expressed by members of the Santa Cruz Art league in the way the prizes were awarded. The ultra-moderns took nearly everything. Judging from appearances no conservative picture was hung till the radicals' supply had been exhausted. This year, however, the tables are turned and the jury of selection, William P. Silva and William C. Watto, have chosen for the show only those pictures which appear beautiful, sane and uplifting to the great majority of the American people.

It is, indeed, a great pleasure to attend a show of this kind. One looks through the eyes of the artist whose eyes and soul have been trained to

and the MAIL ORDER HOUSE

Automobiles, radio sets, tires, pianos and other similar things require service—not only at the time you buy them but more or less throughout their lives.

There are, of course, other things you buy where service is not a factor. But why send away for tires? The Post office will not demount your old tire, mount the new one, inflate it to the correct pressure, examine your wheels for alignment, keep your rims free from rust and then at regular intervals inspect your tires for tread cuts and minor injuries. They don't keep free air and water on tap and maintain road service.

We do all these things.

Moreover, we'll sell you a Goodyear Pathfinder tire—a quality product of the world's largest tire factory and at a price as low as that charged by the mail order house.

Remember—no delay—no postage or express—no hard labor on your part and you see what you're getting before you buy.

We are here—at your call, every day in the year—for Service.

PTA, BOARD, TALK NEW HIGH SCHOOL

The latter part of last week a committee from the High School P. T. A. met with the school board to discuss the possibilities of a new high school building.

The idea met with approval on all sides, according to reports, but considerable delay is anticipated. Professor N. O. Best of the high school faculty has been asked to make a survey of the situation. His report will be published in a later issue of The Press.

LOS GATON ON PENSION BOARD

Announcement has been made by the United States bureau of pensions that E. H. Melvin, post service officer of the Los Gatos American Legion, has been appointed a pension agent. Veterans of any war who believe they are entitled to a pension would do well to see Melvin at 300 West Street, Los Gatos.

In addition to the above, veterans of the World war who believe they are entitled to hospitalization or compensation can secure the necessary information, blanks, etc., from him. There is no charge for this service.

Guest, 90, Shows Them How To Drop Pigeons

Randolph, Vt.—When 90-year-old Albert H. Beedle of this place accepted an invitation from the Randolph Gun club to do some trapshooting, the authorities of the organization probably didn't figure him as anything more formidable than a guest of honor.

But Beedle surprised everyone by promptly beraking 10 out of the 25 clay targets thrown from the traps and did it against the handicap of a borrowed gun and hazy atmospheric conditions. If there is any other 90-year-old sportsman who could do better, Mr. Beedle announced he would like to meet him.

The "young sport" mentioned in the item above is a cousin of F. S. Newcomb and an old time friend of Dr. E. C. Abbot of San Jose. Mr. Beedle has another unusual claim for distinction in that he has been choir master in the congregational church of his home town for sixty consecutive years.

CAMPBELL CAGERS TAKE TWO FROM MENLO PARK

The bigger they are the harder they fall—sometimes, anyway. Campbell's unlimited basketball team mrevenged its defeat at the hands of the big boys of Los Gatos last week which they lost by a 22 to 33 score, on a different but equally dangerous team.

The game, which was with the cagers of the Menlo Park prep school, was never in danger for Campbell. The local quint was stepping high, wide and handsome and it was with considerable difficulty that the big fellows of Menlo scored the short end of a 10 to 18 score.

The 130 pounders' game furnished few thrills, for the opposing team was clearly no match for the locals, who ran circles around the lighter Menlo boys. Coach Noddin gave severaly of his second string a chance to perform. The tally was 8-8.

Tonight the Campbell quint will meet Fremont high on the Fremont hardwood. Two games promise fast entertainment for local fans.

GRAMMAR PTA NOTES

The regular monthly meeting of the Grammar P. T. A. was held Tuesday, the president, Mrs. A. D. Rice presiding. The net cash proceeds of the Chamber of Commerce banquet were reported as $43.

Seven new members were reported, bringing the total to 181.

Mrs. Wilson's room was awarded the prize of $1.50 which is given monthly to the room having the highest percentage of attendance of mothers.

The club decided to make the March meeting a "fathers' night" and the supper will be of the covered dish variety, followed by an evening of entertainment, with an interesting speaker.

Mrs. M. C. Allen was in charge of the Founders Day program. The honor guests were presented with bouquets of violets. Honor guests included Mrs. W. E. Hart, sixth district president; Mrs. Paul Alexander, president of the Foot-hill council, Mrs. Rahe, Mrs. Allen and Mrs. W. I. Merrill, all sixth district officers and a number of past presidents of the local group.

The girls glee club, accompanied by Miss Nielsen, sang very sweetly the national PTA song and Miss Gladys Nelson gave a reading, a eulogy on "Founders Day."

A silver tea was served, the proceeds of which were sent

RECEPTION

Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Baugh were tendered a reception Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Cramer by some 60 members of the Methodist church.

as a Founders Day gift.

The Camp Fire girls of Mrs. Swane's group cared for the small children during the social hour. They were served with cake after the mothers' tea, which brought the enjoyable afternoon to a close.

WEDDINGS—The wedding ceremony was master of ceremony, which included a program of singing, a mock wedding and a shower of gifts. The Misses Evangeline and Olive Duff, sisters of the bride, were guests of the John Lynden family over the week-end. The Duff sisters have evangelistic meetings arranged until June when they will conclude at Richmond. Mrs. Baugh will be with them most of the time until that date.
